INTRODUCTION

Step inside the world of the Brontës.

For one unhurried day, step inside the world of the Brontës — the most famous literary family in history. This carefully designed private tour lets you not only discover the Brontës, but experience, see and even breathe the very landscape they knew and lived in.

Whether it's Charlotte's Jane Eyre, Emily's Wuthering Heights or Anne's The Tenant of Wildfell Hall, it is difficult to think of books more bound to place and landscape than these age-defining works.

To truly appreciate this family and their extraordinary canon, you need a day that moves only ever at your pace — with time to dwell, to think, to appreciate, to dream. This is where a private tour comes into its own.

"Should you wish to linger a little longer in the Parsonage, you can. Should you wish to dwell a moment longer in the Brontë Meadow, you can. The day is entirely yours."

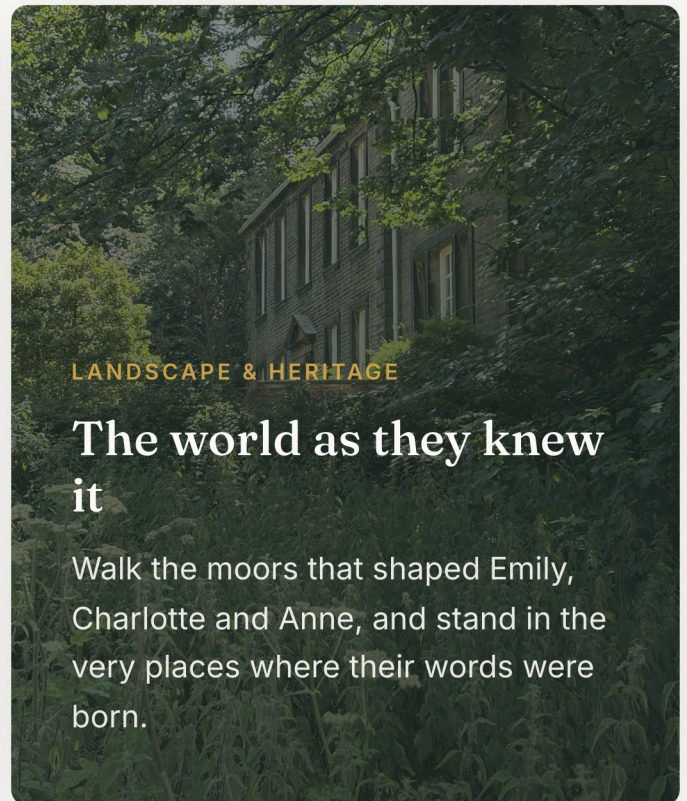

A day built around you — not a timetable.

Four things set a private Brontë day apart, whether you know the novels by heart or are meeting the sisters for the first time.

AT YOUR PACE

Only ever at your pace

Linger in the Parsonage, dwell in the Brontë Meadow, or press on to the next view. Nothing is rushed, and nothing is fixed.

LANDSCAPE & HERITAGE

The world as they knew it

Walk the moors that shaped Emily, Charlotte and Anne, and stand in the very places where their words were born.

OPTIONAL

Adventure to Top Withens

Should the weather be kind, walk up to the old farm ruin written about by Emily in Wuthering Heights.

FOR EVERYONE

Made for mixed groups

Devoted readers and curious first-timers have an equally memorable day. Everyone finds their own way in.

A typical day, yours to reshape.

We get in and out of the vehicle as much or as little as you like. Times are a rhythm, never a rule.

~9:00 AM

Collected from your door

We collect you from your York accommodation and head west across the vast county to the Worth Valley, where the village of Haworth is nestled.

EN ROUTE

A stop along the way

We break the journey with a stop at a place of interest — perhaps the viaduct at Knaresborough or the locks of the Aire Valley.

LATE
MORNING

Haworth & the Brontë Parsonage

Visit the house where the Brontë children grew up, then let your guide lead a walking tour of the village and its most Brontë-linked corners.

MIDDAY

Lunch, your choice

Haworth has excellent options — choose whatever you like, or nothing at all. Your guide never joins your group for lunch unless you invite them.

AFTERNOON

Up onto the moors

Head up to the moors most closely tied to the Brontës' childhood, and let this timeless scenery cast its spell over you as it did over them.

LATER

Into the Yorkshire Dales

Gain the full measure of Yorkshire's outstanding natural beauty across the Dales National Park before we turn for home.

~ EVENING

Home again

We return you to York, or wherever you are staying, after around eight hours together.

The Brontë Parsonage, Haworth

KEY LOCATIONS · 01

The Brontë Parsonage

The house where the Brontë children grew up, and where their father Patrick and their Aunt Branwell raised them. Wander the rooms that framed their imaginations — the parlour where the sisters wrote, the very windows that looked out onto the churchyard and the moors beyond.

After touring the house, your expert driver-guide will offer to lead you on a walking tour of Haworth, showing you the places most closely linked to the family — including their final place of rest.

Parsonage tickets are bought separately, on the day. Choose a date the Parsonage is open — full details on Good to know.

Haworth & the Brontë graves

Experiencing Haworth so intimately — its steep cobbled Main Street, the Old Post Office where the sisters handed their manuscripts over the counter to their London publishers, the church of St Michael & All Angels where the family lies at rest — brings the Brontës vividly close.

Main Street

The cobbled hill the family walked every day, little changed since.

The Old Post Office

Where the sisters posted their novels to London. The counter is still in use.

The Brontë graves

The family's resting place beneath the church, a quiet close to the walk.

The moors that shaped them

Let this timeless scenery cast its spell over you, in the same way it did for Emily, Charlotte and Anne.

Weather permitting, we can walk up to Top Withens — the old farm ruin long said to have inspired Wuthering Heights. As with everything on the day, the choice is entirely yours.

Into the Yorkshire Dales

From the moors we head up into the Yorkshire Dales National Park — some 840 square miles of outstanding natural beauty — so you gain a full sense of the landscape that Yorkshire possesses.

ON SCREEN

This landscape was recently used by Warner Bros. to film the latest adaptation of Wuthering Heights, starring Jacob Elordi and Margot Robbie.

If the Parsonage is not open on the day you can manage, you'll still see it from the outside and enjoy a complete tour.

FROM LONDON IN A DAY

There and back on the train

It's possible to do this tour in a day from London, on the high-speed train from King's Cross to York. We meet you at the station between around 9 and 10am and return you for around 7pm — back in London for one last drink at the bar before bedtime.

WHERE WE COLLECT YOU

We typically collect from your York accommodation, but can often pick up from a range of major cities across the north of England.

If it's not York, just get in touch to arrange.
